G-SUITE – USING OTHER GOOGLE SERVICES

You can utilize most Google services using your Louisiana Tech username and password. This includes Google Drive, Docs, Sheets, Slides, and more. These Google apps can be especially useful when collaborating with other students on projects and they can help keep your school work organized in a central location. To login to these services directly, use the format username@email.latech.edu and enter your Louisiana Tech username and password when prompted. Here is an overview of the most commonly used Google services:

GSUITE – USING OTHER GOOGLE SERVICES

Google Drive

drive.google.com

Can be used to easily store your own files in the cloud and share those files with others if you wish. Google Drive apps are available for most platforms (including Windows, Mac, iPhone, and Android) to make accessing your files across devices extremely convenient.

Google Docs

docs.google.com

A word processor can be used directly through a web browser. When a document is shared with other users, multiple people can edit the document simultaneously.

GSUITE – USING OTHER GOOGLE SERVICES

Google Sheets

sheets.google.com

A spreadsheet tool that can be used directly through a web browser. When a sheet is shared with other users, multiple people can edit the sheet simultaneously.

Google Slides

slides.google.com

A presentation tool that can be used directly through a web browser. When a presentation is shared with other users, multiple people can edit the presentation simultaneously.

PRINTING ON CAMPUS

Print stations are available throughout the Louisiana Tech campus to provide you with convenient access to printing resources. Whether you need to print a few pages of notes or an entire paper, we've got you covered. Print jobs can be submitted via print.latech.edu and then released from the specified print station using the computer located at each station. In addition, you can visit a general use computer lab in the student center or the library to print directly from a computer to a nearby printer. Some colleges also have their own computer labs available for student use that allow printing.

MICROSOFT OFFICE 365

As a student of Louisiana Tech, your credentials provide you with access to the multitude of tools available via Microsoft's Office 365 service. This includes access to download and install the latest Microsoft Office desktop apps on your personal devices, the ability to store and share files via the OneDrive cloud storage platform, and the opportunity to collaborate with others using the available online apps.

To get started, navigate to portal.office.com and login using the format username@office.latech.edu and your password.

IMPORTANT: Note the username format that has to be used when logging into Microsoft Office 365. Even though your email address is yourlatechtechusername@latech.edu, you have to use the format yourlatechusername@office.latech.edu when logging into Microsoft Office 365 services.
